

Join us for two conversations with
David Goa, Director of the Ronning Centre

Christians have responsibilities to care for the public world and for the lives of others—all others—and certainly any and all who are under duress. Some in our society fear what they see as the advancing of Islam around the world, and the growing Muslim population in democratic countries everywhere. You are invited to a conversation to explore the various questions that arise because of the shifting geo-political and religious landscape. All perspectives are welcome as we think together about the challenges and opportunities offered to us by the new realities of Canada.
